Biography

Victoria is no stranger to the International scene, it is actually where she started. In Paris Victoria joined Joe Turner's Live in Concert tour. A unique Belgian performance coupled Victoria Horne with Blues / Boogie Woogie pianist Renaud Patigny & his Trio, for the Festival International de Boogie Woogie de Roquebrou leading to the well-received blues single "Let it Roll."

In Germany Victoria performed the National Anthem (Amazing Grace) during the NFL World Bowl held in Frankfurt, Germany. The Strangers in The Night concert featured Victoria with The Harald Ruschenbaum Jazz Orchestra & Anders Holte a highlight of The Paulaner Open Air Munchen Festival, which invited Victoria to perform for two seasons.

Known as J.J. Victoria on the popular recordings I Love You So Caruso, (Orlando Productions / Dist. Carrere in France.) and I've Got Something (French film Jet Set) these classic recordings are a testament to Victoria's excellent vocal capabilities and continue to be sold online.

Victoria can also be seen singing in the Bob Dylan video "Tight Connection To My Heart" made during the early stages of her career and is a popular download on the internet.

Victoria's talent and professional training continue to shine through and til this day, she remains in a class of distinction.
